23 September, 2022

The International Virtual Summer Program on Recent Development in Psychological Research

Faculty of Psychology, Universitas Airlangga, Indonesia

23 September 2022

The International Virtual Summer Program on Recent Development in Psychological Research offers opportunities for international academics to deliver an online lecture according to their areas of expertise in psychology. International academics are invited to share their latest research findings, scientific reviews, knowledge, experience and emerging trends in the field of psychology. Participants of this program include fellow academics/researchers, undergraduate and postgraduate students, and general audience.

Structure of the Program

The program will be held virtually on Friday, 23 September 2022. The day will be divided into two parallel panel sessions:

1. A morning session at 08.45-11.05 am (Jakarta time, UTC+7) with two panels.
2. An afternoon session at 12.45-3.05 pm (Jakarta time, UTC+7) with three panels.

detailed list of the panels and schedules are included in this booklet.
